Sonoma Boy's Regiment Goes "Over The Top"

George Angove Braves Danger Of Stretcher Bearer At Battle of St. Mihiel And Had Many Narrow Escapes From Death

George Angove who was not heard from for several weeks has at last written his parents here and his letter contains the startling news that his regiment went over the top and that the musicians of the band were commandeered as stretcher bearers. Angove was a popular young man here and a talented trombone player at one of the valley's leading summer resorts. He was sent to Camp Lewis and went across to France almost immediately.

George's many friends will read the following letter with much interest and hope for the safe and not far distant return of the Sonoma boy Oct. 6, 1918.

Dear Mother and Father:

I will drop you a line while I have a chance. We are just allowed to write a little as they have little time to censor the letters. It will probably be quite a while before this one and the last one I wrote you as there were several I wrote to you were sent back to me, no time to censor them. I just rec'd 6 or 7 letters from you in the last couple of days and was sure glad to hear from you.

The latest was dated Sept. 11 and you said you had rec'd 4 letters from me in France at that time. I expect there are quite a few I write you you never get as there is so much mail to handle. Well mother there has been quite a bit happened since I wrote to you last. Our regiment went over the top. We made quite a gain on our front as we advanced 10 or 12 miles. We in the band acted as stretcher bearers. We followed those behind the infantry and we sure worked hard for the first 3 or 4 days to rest or sleep and had long distances to pack the wounded men. I had many narrow escapes from shells and bullets but I am thankful to say I have not been hit yet although one of the other bands had 3 or 4 of their men wounded. We are 5 or 6 miles behind the front lines now. I am feeling pretty good now, my stomach bothered me some a few days back, but I am better now. I told you in my last letter that I am rated as 3rd class musician now and am playing trombone again. Our instruments are back again in a town. Hoping you are both well I will close.

Your loving son, George Angove

XMAS CHEER FOR THE SOLDIER

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Waltz have gone to Lemoore to reside. Mr. Waltz will go into the newspaper business there with his brother. Their paper is a very neat publication.

Ray Gottenberg came home from Camp Kearney Thursday and is looking badly after his critical attack of pneumonia. He will soon recuperate with the good care of home folks.

OUR PEOPLE RESPOND TO CALL

United War Work Campaign Progresses and Sonoma Valley Expects to Raise Quota $4,000

Sonoma valley hearts beat high when the call is sounded for war contributions and in the great drive which opened Monday under the able and enthusiastic leadership of Tom Baines and his aides, there has been further evidence of local interest and enthusiasm for our noble sons gone to war. That Sonoma is going to back up the boys at the front peace or no peace was demonstrated by the liberal response in all our districts and it is confidently predicted that we will make our quota of $4,000 before the week's end. The victory Boys and Victory Girls are working through the schools and doing fine work among the little folks. The quotas are as follows:

Dunbar	$2.40
El Verano	16.00
Flowers	7.40
Glen Ellen	8.80
Enterprise	1.60
Huichica	7.80
San Luis	7.00
Sonoma	32.60
Watmough	4.00
Sonoma High	129.00

"Victory night" was to have been celebrated here Thursday night and the committee on the celebration were Messrs. Mohr, Prestwood, Munk, Dal Poggetto, Mrs. Adler, Misses Green and Burchard, who arranged a splendid program. Illuminations, music and oratory, a parade with many novel features. "The Long Long Trail" and "Swatting The Kaiser" were to be carried out but the rain caused the big time to be called off. "The Marsellaise" was to have been sung by Miss Froment and Monsieur Sokolay former professional singer was to give Italian and American national songs. A Canadian sergeant and other speakers were arranged for. That Sonoma knows how to celebrate is apparent.

The following contributions to the United War Work Campaign are reported by the various solicitors in their several districts:

"FLU TAKES MOTHER OF BABE

Mrs. Louis Andrette 19 Years Old Dies Few Days After Birth Of Little Son

Mrs. Mary Andrette, 19 year old wife of Louis Andrette of the Tate ranch tomato farm, died on Sunday four days after the birth of a little son and following an attack of influenza. The sad death of the young wife and mother caused sorrow throughout the valley. She was a pretty young woman and married just 9 months and 6 days when called by the Angel of Death. The husband is grief stricken and also the father L. Raffante, and her brother and sister. The baby is well, and all unconscious of the loss of its beloved mother is contented and happy in the arms of loving relatives who will raise the orphaned infant and care for it. Mrs. Andrette was born in Half Moon Bay, this state and came here from San Jose with her husband to reside on the Tate ranch a few months ago.

A pathetic coincidence is the fact that she was a cousin of the late Mrs. Peter Quartaroli who died a few days previous and who in her delirium called constantly for her. She has now gone to the Great Beyond where it is hoped she will meet the beloved ones who preceded her and where beyond those bright portals of eternity perfect peace abides.

The funeral was held in San Jose Thursday with interment at Santa Clara Cemetery.

TOM BUTLER DIES AND RELATIVES ARE SOUGHT

Tom Butler, a well known mechanic and character about town, died suddenly of pneumonia Monday and although he is said to be prominently connected, his relatives have as yet not replied to telegrams announcing Butler's demise and his remains are at Bates undertaking parlors awaiting orders from relatives. Tom Butler came here with contractor Ingraham to help build Sonoma's new $30,000 Grammar School and has worked in and around this vicinity ever since. He at one time in his life resided at Concord where he was a deputy coroner. Butler is said to have had a son who was killed in the war, and a daughter residing in New York. The latter was sent a wire but up to yesterday no reply had been received.

The unfortunate man was sick and in need of care but local sanitarians were full on account of the "flu" and nurses impossible to get. The situation and similar episodes has led to agitation for a city hospital or emergency ward for deserving people without a home who may be stricken with accident or disease and in need of care and prompt attention.

SONOMA 100 PER CENT JOYOUS

Peace News Responsible For Greatest Celebration of Years Last Monday Night

Immediately upon receipt of the news of the signing of the armistice, Sonoma Valley was surcharged with the spirit of celebration and rejoicing. Flags began to flutter from every flag pole and every automobile. General congratulation and expressions of thanksgiving went the rounds. The mayor appointed Messrs. Jesse Prestwood and John Mohr a committee of two to arrange a mammoth celebration for the evening and automobiles dashed through town proclaiming the general spirit of joy which had taken possession of all at the glad announcement of peace.

The day was a semi-holiday here and at 4 p. m. the employees of the California Glove Company being unable to hold their joy within bounds any longer left the factory and formed a parade, boys, girls, men and women participating. James Modini was the gallant drummer, and Mayor Dal Poggetto marched also with the patriotic workers who were loudly applauded and cheered all along the streets. A big banner telling who the enthusiasts were and Superintendent Munk in the lead left no doubt as to who was responsible for the afternoon parade which was Sonoma's preliminary to the big time later. When night-fall came, the bon fires in the plaza were kindled and flamed to the sky of a perfect night while the bells in the city hall and church steeples rang out merrily and mingled with the more discordant but jovial notes of horns, bells and more homely but effective contrivances attached to automobiles and trucks of every description.

A parade headed by Stephen Duhring carrying old Glory and followed by a hundred or more citizens some of whom carried the big flag donated by Fred Hansen to the city made a never to be forgotten picture. Autos and vehicles followed, all supplied with every conceivable idea for making a big noise. Now and then a little harmony came to the surface and the strains of "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight" was blatantly proclaimed on a cornet but music was drowned out in the pandemonium which reigned and concluded with ceremonies of blowing up an effigy of the Kaiser. Between anvil blasts which rent the air, there was speech making by Attorney F. Sprague, Mayor Dal Pogetto and F. T. Duhring all of whom were vociferously applauded as they dwelt on the German rout and the great allied victory. General merry making and carnival spirit pranks concluded the big night under Sonoma's brilliant street canopy and if it had not been for the dreaded "flu" street dancing would have been in order. Mothers fathers, wives and sweethearts, brothers, sisters and friends of the Sonoma boys who have participated in the greatest of world wars joined in the greatest frolic this city has ever known and deep down in the hearts of all was the silent prayer of real thanksgiving that the peace for which we have long hoped was at last a reality. The armistice news caused the cancellation by the exemption Board of the orders for Captain Valente and twenty men to entrain for Kelly Field, Texas. They were to have gone Monday.

Miss Nevada Schell is visiting relatives in the metropolis.

Peace To Those Who Sleep In Flanders Field

WE HAVE KEPT FAITH with those who lie in Flanders field and now that peace has been born of all they suffered, sweet sleep and rest eternal shall mark the silent places where flame the poppies in the hallowed land where cruel war has ceased and its harsh notes are hushed. Oh happy day when all the world heard those glad tidings of peace with honor!

It is a privilege to be one of this glad year, an epoch in history and that peace should have been brought about just on the threshold of our annually and nationally celebrated Thanksgiving day is a happy coincidence.

Rejoicing is our first thought, for unto lonesome homes and unto lonesome hearts, sons, brothers, and husbands will ere long come home to take their places once again in our midst, to be with loved ones and renew former friendships and association, but peace is fraught with a far deeper meaning to the people of all the world. It marks wondrous changes in national boundary lines, precipitates great political evolution, and will be responsible for the creation of a league of nations to assume a lasting peace pact and the compulsory settlement of national differences in sane fashion and without the colossal loss for which war however justified is responsible. This latter result of this greatest of world wars is the one that means more to us and to posterity than all else with the exception of the inevitable demonstration that right will triumph though the forces of evil forge every link in a chain which they believed as in the case of the Kaiser and the military war lords was absolutely unbreakable—would bind the world forever in ignominious serfdom. We have trailed this shattered piece of hardware in the dust and struck the manacles from hands long since tired of war lords' toil and autocracy's exactions. Enmeshed in his own instrument of iniquity, the last of the Hohenzollern tyrannists has been forced to renounce his title and his throne. Recklessness is idle for such as him for words are weak and no language but that of the soul in the throes of the misery and torture he has inflicted can half express the damnation which has been hurled against this boast of kultur since he set out on his mission of world conquest. With all this on his head and his monstrous plan of hellish design shattered, he is indeed a broken Moloch—horrid king, besmeared with blood of human sacrifice and parent's tears.

America's entrance into the war marked the beginning of the end and while we may not have endured what the allies have throughout the years in which they grappled with the beast, we have been through trying times and best of all we stood the test. This country is more of a nation than it has ever been just as our boys who have been through the war will be greater, nobler men because of it. The test has welded us into a stronger better nation, it has rekindled patriotism of higher order, made us fervent in the long sought religion of the brotherhood of man. Humanity, sacrifice and all their kindred virtues have come to the surface in Americans. Let us keep as many of the fine traits as we can and get away from the narrow, selfish and unnecessary characteristics whose error it is easy to fall into. Let us all do our part toward bringing about normal times and urge the prompt removal of all artificial, unnecessary restrictions and all things which hamper the return of business to normal channels. Peace is here let us prove worthy of all it has cost and all that it means.

A Fight For Principle Which Should Be Carried On

We hope that those two valiant companions in arms the Sacramento Bee and Petaluma Argus will continue to carry on the fight against the primary law with which California is afflicted. It appears that we did the Bee an injustice in misunderstanding the reasons for the bold stroke of writing in Rolph up to the last which procedure cost Bell many many votes and also cut down the Stephens majority in the Sacramento valley. The Bee was making an ironclad fight for principle so it explains in one of its able editorials and though the heavens fell and many political luminaries suffer, it was determined that the people who voted for Rolph and wanted him for Governor should not yield their right. Said the Bee in explaining its position:

"The issue at stake in this campaign is the right of the American citizen to cast his vote and to have his vote counted the way he casts it."

"It is indisputable, American and constitutional right to select candidates for office and to see that the men he chooses fill the offices he has chosen them to occupy."

"The California citizen has been robbed of that essential right. He has had taken from him the very vital essence of American citizenship."

"It has been done through an idiotic law and by an inconsistent Court, which in order to hold constitutional that which the best lawyers in the state declare to be absolutely unconstitutional, had to turn a somersault on its own decisions."

"James Rolph, Jr., not only was selected as one Democratic nominee for the governorship of California; he received thousands of votes more for that office from the sovereign People of this state than any other candidate, not excepting Governor Stephens."

"And righteously, in equity, in honor, in common sense, constitutionally. Governor Stephens hasn't any more right—may, he hasn't, in one way, half as much right—to be upon that ballot, than has James Rolph, Jr., of San Francisco."

"If the voters of the state of California propose to stand silently by and submit to such a shameful deprivation of their sovereign rights, they should be ashamed of themselves."

"They will have proved that though their rights are worth fighting for, they themselves are not."

"And now, once and for all, The Bee is for James Rolph, Jr., for governor of California, not because he is James Rolph, Jr., not because this paper has any apology to make for anything it has ever said against James Rolph, Jr., not because it takes back a single word of its severe criticism upon certain phases of his Mayoralty career; but solely because he is the only outstanding, real Peoples candidate for governor of California.

He is such candidate, notwithstanding the dictum of the Supreme Court. He is a candidate who has a better right to be heard even than William D. Stephens, and an infinitely better right than Theodore A. Bell—and a candidate to whom the People of California should rally for the sole purpose of vindicating their rights as American citizens.

"And the Bee would be in this present crusade, no matter what his name."

"For the voters of California have the right to pick their candidates." "And there isn't any law or any Supreme Court that should be permitted unrebuked to throttle them in that right."

ITALIAN SOLDIER WRITES TO BROTHER HERE

On the eve of the great battle which turned the tide in Italy and precipitated the end of the war, Thos. Vella 19 year old brother of Joseph Vella one of the proprietors of the Mission Creamery wrote of the impending conflict on the Piave. His letter full of patriotism and reflecting the noble character of the young soldier, follows:

Fratello Carissimo:—

Fra giorni frontenero ancora i nostri odiosi nemici con la più massima certezza di sciacciarli, per sempre, sarà una dei più forti colpi questa volta quale sarà una finale vittoria per tutte le Nazioni che oggi combattiamo per una futura Libertà e diritti. Li aggraverò ancora una volta con più odio e fiero, a nome della Patria e gli Alleati. Sarà Un colpo duro e doloroso che lascerà per sempre una memoria per le storie del avvenire.

Stai tranquillo e contendo, se Iddio mi assisterà ad un salvo ritorno di riabbracciare i nostri Genitori che da un tempo lasciai in speranza, ti farò sapere cose complicate in questa grande guerra da noi figli d'Italia.

Baci di Fratemità,
G. VELLA.

(Translation)

My dearest Brother:

Almost every day we are expecting to go before our hateful enemies and with every surety that we will crush them so completely that the blow may bring the end of the struggle and victory to all the nations who are fighting for future rights and liberty. I will face them for this last offensive with more potency and assurance and hate in the name of my country the allies and future generations than ever before and we will deal so hard a blow that it will ever leave a remembrance for the world's history. Be happy and hopeful with God's help I hope for a safe return to embrace our dear folks at home. Will let you hear many things accomplished by the sons of Italy in this great war. Kisses of brotherhood.
Thos. Vella.

SONOMANS MEET-OVER SEAS IN ENGLISH HOSPITAL

Bert Gale, who has been confined to a hospital with pneumonia and rheumatism in Kent, England writes that he has met an old Sonoma resident there, Captain Oliver, who formerly lived at Boyes Springs and was acquainted with Captain H. E. Boyes and all the old timers. When Oliver heard that a Sonoma boy was in the hospital he looked him up and upon meeting Gale asked to be remembered to M. E. Mullen, the Durrings, Cleves and other friends. Capt. Oliver told Bert that another Sonoma boy was in Dartford also but did not know who he was.

INGALLS APPOINTED GIRL'S GUARDIAN

J. C. Ingalls of Healdsburg was appointed guardian of Antonie Koenig, former Sonoma school girl and an heiress to considerable property. His bonds were fixed at $15,000. The Ingalls are relatives of the late Mrs. Koenig who was formerly the girl's guardian. Considerable rivalry over the guardianship threatened to crop out but it is understood that Antonie herself wanted to make her home with the Ingalls, who are prosperous residents of the Russian river country.

Lt. Lynn Mae Quiddy arrived at a New York training camp.

Mrs. Lewis Cordill writes from Imperial that the family is delighted with the new town and its splendid schools, streets and climate. The children have been engaged in cotton picking as the schools there are closed on account of the epidemic. Mr. Cordill is employed by the water company at Imperial. The baby is well and all are in good health since taking up their residence in the south.

POPULAR RESORT MAN IS NOW A CITIZEN

Fernande Mosso, a native of Italy and popular with patrons of Sonoma Grove was one of the successful applicants for citizenship papers Tuesday. There were 21 applicants and six qualified.

"Nando" will make a good citizen. He is progressive, up-to-date and takes a keen interest in all affairs for the well being of this country.

TOMATO CANNING SEASON IS TO CLOSE

After 10 busy weeks the Sonoma tomato canning season is about to close. The harvest has been unusually heavy and the new plant has taken care of all but 6 carloads of fresh tomatoes which were shipped to the California packing Company. In all the Sebastiani plant has put up 50,000 cases of tomatoes this season, has shipped 14 carloads to Eastern and Pacific Coast points, and holds 16 carloads in the warehouse subject to government orders for shipment. Next season it is planned to open early in July with the string bean pack and continue until November, canning various fruits and vegetables. The payroll of Sonoma's new business enterprise has averaged about $2,000 a week and has put much money into circulation.

PERJURY CHARGE BLOWS UP

Grand Jury Fails to Find Anything In Sensational Statement Made To Courts in Rowe-Fetters Case

The sensational turn which the Rowe-Fetters slander suit took last Friday, when Attorney Rolf Thompson, Rowe's lawyer, alleged that he had a witness named Hacker, who had confessed to subornation of perjury implicating Mrs. Emma Fetters, turned out to be a fiasco if the failure of the Grand Jury to act in the matter and stories which have leaked out in connection with the investigation can be taken as indexes to the facts.

It appears that Hacker, who had been an employee at the Chauvet Hotel, was originally a witness called by Mrs. Fetters but when he went on the stand he veered around and astounded the defense by declaring that he was not an employee at the Chauvet, but a boarder and gave other mysterious testimony. Hacker's shifty conduct led evidently to his being exploited by interested parties and on the day the perjury charge sensation was sprung, it is said that Hacker was produced by Constable Murray, who with Attorney Thompson were supposed to have secured from him the incriminating confession that Mrs. Fetters had offered him a $15 suit of clothes or some such bribe to lie in her behalf. This reputed heinous offense proved to be a veritable bombshell when sprung in the court Friday and was responsible for halting the trial, since tampering with a witness is a serious allegation and it was at once ordered investigated by the Grand Jury.

which Judge Seawell called into session on Tuesday. Between Friday and Tuesday Hacker was remanded to the custody of Constable Murray but despite the vigilance of his keeper, it is said that Billy Hacker took intimates into his confidence and confided that he believed he was being used as a stool pigeon to pull off something and that he had been promised immunity, or in his own words, that he would be "taken care of" if he testified to certain things. It is declared that Murray became suspicious and abusive when he caught an outsider in conversation with his star witness.

On Tuesday the man taken into the confidence of Hacker, was subpoenaed as a witness before the Grand Jury but was not called as Hacker's own statement before the Grand Jury led to his undoing and the entire mess savored so of a frame-up that the inquisitorial body would have nothing of it. Mrs. Fetters it is said was questioned and succeeded in convincing the jurymen that she was not only not a party to the mythical subornation of perjury but was also never guilty of such a cheap trick as offering a $15 suit of clothes to anyone under any circumstances.

"Richly gowned and wearing her famous $300 fox fur stole, she expostulated that she should have ever been connected with a $15 deal of that character."

At any rate the Grand Jury took no cognizance of the sensation sprung by Rowe's lawyer and the case will be re-tried on November 19.

Annabelle Maffei, prominent business man and partner of Vic Levroni has been confined to his home with the flu.

Mrs. L. L. Lewis, daughters and grand children of Alameda county have been enjoying an outing at their country home west of town.

DRIED FRUIT LOSS LIGHT IN SONOMA VALLEY

The last of the dried fruit shipments from Sonoma Valley have gone out and upon comparison with other sections, it is said this section's loss through the early rain was slight. The prune loss is estimated at 20 per cent whereas in the Santa Clara valley a loss of 70 per cent is reported. Sonoma's peerless climate scores again despite conditions which have obtained throughout the state.

Rev. Oelhoff, former pastor of Trinity Church but lately of San Francisco, was to have left for an Eastern Camp this week to train for army chaplain work.

Hamil Wagon came home from Mare Island as soon as the "flu" quarantine had been lifted.

Joseph Sutter who has been ill with the "flu" in Glenn County where he is employed in the rice fields, is reported much better. His family here have received word that he is all right.

The Best Test for Baking Powder

If you are using some other baking powder because it costs less than Royal, get a can of Royal Baking Powder from your grocer, make biscuits with it, and compare them with those made from the cheaper powder.

The biscuits made with Royal Baking Powder will be lighter, of finer flavor and more wholesome.

"I have used Royal Baking Powder for 17 years—always returning to it after an occasional trial of other powders on the ground that they are 'just as good as Royal and cheaper'—'cheaper', yes—in more ways than one—but 'just as good', emphatically—No!" VINTAGE SEASON BEST IN HISTORY

Sonoma Valley Producers Make More Wine Than Any Previous Year and Prices Are Highest Ever.

The vintage season of 1918 which is about to close is one of the most successful in the history of Sonoma Valley producers. The demand is practically unlimited and it is only a question of keeping pace with it. Jos. Sorini has just completed one of the biggest years in the history of his cellar and is now shipping 170,000 gallons of wine to New York and Connecticut. Sam Sebastiani has made 350,000 gallons of wine at his immense plant and is getting as high as 55c per gallon. This same type of wine sold formerly for as little as 20c which was in former years a good price. Mr. Sebastiani paid on an average of $43 per ton for the grapes he bought from the growers. Gundlach-Bundschu Company crushed many grapes this season also and will keep up their world wide shipments to the high class trade they enjoy and which is anxious to get all this wine which can be furnished at better prices than ever before. Felice Pagani and company of Glen Ellen have been crushing an immense tonnage and this firm famous for its dry and sparkling wines has also an unprecedented market at prices flat-tering indeed to California producers.

TO THE PUBLIC

I, the undersigned, Sam Sebastiani, proprietor of the Sebastiani Canning Company wish to assure the people of Sonoma, that I have never at any time during the help shortage, tried to take any advantage of the situation or use any but the most honorable methods to get help although recently the attitude of the foreman of the glove factory was such that it conveyed the impression that I had come to the glove factory to get their help away to work for me.

The circumstances of my call there which led to abuse and ungentlemanly conduct toward me are these: A former employee of mine, Mr. Benedetti is experienced in work necessary in my wine cellar which has been crushing many hundred tons of grapes and on account of sickness and death in the families of my employees, I was in the greatest need for help like Mr. Benedetti, who is experienced in the business. He was working at the glove factory and having regard for the management there, I thought it only right to ask permission to let this man come to me for a few days to break in a new employee. He said he was willing if the glove factory was. I called there to see and was subjected to abuse and vilification by Mr. Munk which in all my experience with business people and travel from Pacific coast to Atlantic, I never encountered before. I was ordered from the place and grossly insulted, all of which I take exception to, for I have never treated a visitor to my plant in this manner and had the best intent in going to the cutting plant to get this former employee of mine to temporarily help me out. I offered to return the courtesy to the glove people sometime if they were hard pressed for help, but my good will was met with very bad treatment and I take this means through these columns to state my position and leave it to the public to judge if this spirit on the part of the glove factory foreman is not unfair and uncalled for in a community where we are trying to build up our industries.

Signed Sam Sebastiani.

OVER ZEALOUS INSPECTOR REBUKED

Bacteria Dug Up By Inspector Technical Menace Only So Judge Small Virtually Remits A Fine of $10.

The multitudinous regulations and laws affecting the dairy industry of California were given a severe jolt in the local justice court Monday when H. V. DuBois, a prominent dairyman of the Napa road charged with the violation of a sanitary requirement appeared with his attorneys Johnson and Johnson of Napa and Frank Sprague of Sonoma to pay a fine of $10 which Judge Small virtually remitted. DuBois had pleaded guilty but the just judge on hearing evidence and reviewing facts in the case which grew out of a visit of Inspector Watson to the DuBois dairy on October 22nd. was convinced that while the bacteria brought to light from the rim of a milk bucket cover by the dairy bureau's gumshoe man was a technical menace, it was in no sense a menace to the milk, the guarantee of the purity of which DuBois showed he had more than sought to ensure. The modern dairy plant with its concrete floors and walls, its cooling plant and sterilization outfit was described by witnesses and illustrated by large photographs. Mr. DuBois explained his plea of guilty by stating that his hired help was sick that his steam plant was out of order on account of his inability to get a steam fitter and that the work of cleaning up at the dairy had been undertaken by his wife, her girl and a visiting friend. He granted that they may have overlooked the crevice in the bucket cover or rim where lurked the germs which the "coco" sure inspector pur need upon but such extenuating circumstances were noted and such precaution in the installation of high type equipment was apparent that the court doubted the application of the cut and dried law to the case within his jurisdiction. He therefore imposed a technical fine of $10, the minimum, and suspended execution thereof.

OF INTEREST TO WINE MAKERS

November 1, 1918.
Leopold Justi,
Glen Ellen, California.

Sir:
Reference is here made to your letter, dated October 30th, relative to tax paying wine in excess of 200 gallons.

You are advised that T. D. 2765 changes the law as follows:

A wine maker can make wine not to exceed 1,000 gallons, and can tax pay all in excess of 200 gallons that he reserves for exclusive family use, but he will have to file Form 698 in triplicate and have a registry number issued. In case he does not care to taxpay his wine at once, he can deposit a Liberty Loan Bond equal to the amount of tax and file a bond (copy of said bond will be furnished you soon).

All taxes must be paid on or before ninety days from time of production of the wine. He then will make a report until such time as he makes more wine.

Trusting this will give you the desired information requested.

Respectfully,
Justus S. Wardell, Collector.

FRED NONELLA WRITES TO HIS MOTHER

Uninformed as yet as to the death of his brother Steve, Fred Nonella who has been in France with the army writes to his mother under date of Oct. 16th saying that he is well and had not as yet received any mail from home. He cautions the home folks to address his letters carefully to Co. C. 363rd. Infantry. In conclusion the soldier boy says, "This thing may be over before long, at least I hope so, but still I am not tired yet and we have everything we want over here so I've got no kick coming. All I ask is for you not to worry about me as I am getting along fine".

LT. A. M. THOMSON STILL AT CAMP MILLS

LT. A. M. Thomson who left a lucrative practice here to enter the army and after a few weeks entrained for an Eastern port of disembarkation had the orders to sail canceled just on the eve of his departure for the war zone. Many of his division had already gone aboard the transport. Lt. Thomson says the weather at Camp Mills is very cold and that New York climate and accommodations cannot compare with California ozone and our entoments. Officers and men are under strict quarantine and cold open air shower baths are provided. Future plans are still doubtful so the doctor writes.

VINEBURG

Peaceful Vineburg has no kick coming, as she was always "true blue" and always will be.

Geo. W. Reed and son of Sonoma motored through this vicinity on Sunday last.

Master Ernest Figone of San Francisco is at present the guest of his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Batto.

Louis Rouque was the week end guest of his family. Louis is still employed at Mare Island.

A 50 ton car of grain and mill feed arrived at Batto's spur on Wednesday last and among the shipment was 10 tons of early Bait Seed wheat recommended by the government. That means it is "good".

The many friends of Mr. Louis Martin of the Vineburg Inn will be sorry to learn that the gentleman met with a serious accident on Monday last by being kicked by a horse. Dr. Hays was summoned and found no bones broken but states the injury to be a painful one.

We are informed that now the war being over, that one of our society young men, a handsome bachelor will become a Benedict. That is if he makes up his mind before a new war starts. Hard to tell, it is up to him. Easy Jim

MAY ACCEPT COMPROMISE IN JACK LONDON ESTATE

An effort to effect a compromise in the Jack London case will come up in the probate court on November 25, when Mrs. Eliza Shepard and Walter L. Growell, special executors, will offer by attorneys to settle claims against the estate of the late novelist held by his daughters and his first wife. The widow, Mrs. Charnian K. London, offers to pay $100 each monthly to Misses Joan and Bess London in lieu of agreement signed a number of years ago.

The will of the late Mr. London recommended that his widow be given opportunity to settle the question of providing for the daughters, and the supposition is that this advice will be followed. —Republican.

CARD OF THANKS

I hereby extend sincere thanks and appreciation for the praise worthy and creditable work of the committee who arranged the peace celebration for the city of Sonoma last Monday evening and also wish to thank those who contributed to the finances which made the celebration possible. Especial thanks are due John Mohr and Jesse F. Prestwood, Mr. Fred Hansen for his generosity in presenting the handsome flag to the city and to the management and employees of the California Glove Factory for their many fine ideas and participation in the parade. Respectfully, Charles Dal Pogetto President Board of Trustees of Sonoma. Dated Nov. 13th, 1918

Felice Rovai drove his big motor truck way beyond Fresno this week, having contracted to haul the household goods of Harold Waltz to Le-moore.

Vic Leveroni and Bloss Keechler are to plant 150 acres of a new kind of wheat which is declared to yield big crops. The seed costs $6 per sack.

THE GLOVE FACTORY
Special mention is due the cutting department of the California Glove Factory where every employee gave a day's wages to this war fund. All employees deserve the greatest credit for their fine spirit of loyalty and cooperation.

INFLUENZA IS ON THE WANE

Dr. W. B. Hays who has had over 100 cases of influenza in various forms reports but two new cases in the last few days and believes the epidemic is on the wane in Sonoma Valley.

At the State Home there were hundreds of cases and about 75 deaths, among the latter several attendants and also Mrs. Gallagher, wife of the druggist of the institution. Mrs. Gallagher who was 39 years of age was a charming woman and her death is deeply regretted. The funeral took place in Alameda.

Dr. Gobar has reported 200 cases in the valley which have come under his observation. He is treating 14 families at the present time for the malady. Ten cases of pneumonia and four deaths have resulted among his patients since the outbreak of the epidemic.

Among the present serious cases is Mrs. Archie Gale of El Verano. A consultation of doctors was held yesterday as her condition was very critical.

NEW APPLE DRYER TO BE BUILT HERE

Another enterprise is being planned for Sonoma and already Mr. Chelini has had plans drawn for a modern apple dryer and evaporator which is to be built on Second St. West near the Reguisei place and is to be in operation next season. The evaporating plant will be a modern one in every respect and will give employment to quite a number of people. There are at present three small dryers in Sonoma valley, all of which are operated by Chinese fruit men.

Coroner and Mrs. Frank Phillips motored through our valley Sunday last and were welcomed by their many friends over this way. The genial official had business at El-dridge.

Mrs. Cliff and children and Mr. and Mrs. Freck motored over to Dilons Beach last week and spent several days as the guest of Mrs. T. H. Baines. On arrival, all enjoyed a chain chowder supper and regretted very much when the time came to return home as the weather and hospitality were most delightful.

Miss Amy Engler has received word from her brother who was gassed at Chateau Thierry that he is now in the convalescent ward in the hospital "over there" and able to be around.

After five weeks in the Fairmount hospital, San Francisco Johnny Rosse has returned to the home of his mother Mrs. Wm. Helberg where he is slowly improving. The boy fell from a bicycle and injured his knee.

Mrs. Laura Chase Vassen of S. F. has been here on a visit to her mother Mrs. Chase.

Mrs. Felice Rovai volunteered her services in the recent epidemic and was a splendid nurse. After caring for a mother who passed away she took the family into her own home and cared for them.

Mrs. G. Pancrazi of Glen Ellen, mother of Constable Julius Pancrazi has been quite ill and under the care of Dr. I. C. Gobar for stomach trouble.
